Neglect to train children in some useful employment is essentially an American sin. They order things better in Europe. There every one must know how to do something, men and women, plebeians and those of the blood royal. The present King of England is a bookbinder by trade and served his apprenticeship just like any one else. It is said that he can do no mean job yet. There are princes who are dairy maids, cooks, florists and the like. In this country the idle youth develops into a manhood of in-aptitude and helplessness to be tossed about on the waste waters of deca-dation. To prevent this it may yet be necessary for the government to supply the deficiencies of parents and guardians and make each young man self-supporting.

One would think that Canada was cold enough without annexing Greenland.
